What Are Cookies?

A cookie is a small file, which is placed on your computer's hard drive to help store your user preferences, login and session states, analyse web traffic or let you know when you visit a particular site. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.

Cookies Used On This Site

The following cookies may be set:

exp_expiration, exp_last_activity, exp_last_visit, exp_lasting_impressions, exp_perpage, exp_remember, exp_sessionid, exp_tracker, PHPSESSID, show_cookie_message: These cookies store temporary information to enable site functionality. No personal information is stored in these cookies, only timestamps and/or a fingerprint ID related to that browser session.

Google Analytics: _ga, _gat, __utma, __utmb, __utmc, __utmz: We use Google Analytics to monitor and report on our website usage such as the number of visitors to the site, search phrases used to find us, pages visited on the site and time spent on the site. The statistics gathered are a necessary requirement in order for us to provide and improve our value added products and services and to stay competitive. The cookies do not identify users nor associate your IP address with any personally identifiable information. These cookies are used to collect information about how visitors use our site. We use the information to compile reports and to help us improve the site. The cookies collect information in an anonymous form, including the number of visitors to the site, where visitors have come to the site from and the pages they visited. Google's privacy policy is found here:
www.google.com/analytics/learn/privacy.html

We do not make any attempt to find out the identities of those visiting our websites.

Third Party Cookies

Our website uses features of other websites that may leave a cookie. These are third-party cookies and we are unable to block or prevent them without removing the feature from our site. For information about those cookies you would need to check the originator's website for their cookie policy. Third party cookies left are as follows…

How To Disable Cookies

Most web browsers allow some control of most cookies through the browser settings. To find out more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set and how to manage and delete them, visit: www.aboutcookies.org. To opt out of being tracked by Google Analytics across all websites visit: tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout